

Attacks Security Treaty

Chou En-lai Declares US Has Committed 'Grave, Warlike' Act Signing Agreement

LONDON (AP)—Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai said tonight the United States government committed "a grave warlike provocation" by entering a few days ago into a mutual security treaty with the Chinese Nationalists.

Chou's bristling statement, broadcast by the Peiping radio, threatened that if the United States does not withdraw all its forces from Formosa, the Formosa Strait and Penghu Islands "and persists in interfering in China's internal affairs, it must take upon itself all the grave consequences."

Chou described Nationalist Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek as "the public enemy of the Chinese people."

The broadcast, recorded here, quoted the Red Premier as saying:

"To liberate Taiwan (Formosa) and to liquidate the traitorous Chiang Kai-shek clique is a matter which falls entirely within the scope of China's sovereignty and internal affairs and no interference by any foreign country will be tolerated."

"Threats of war cannot shake the determination of the Chinese people to liberate Taiwan, they can only heighten the indignation of the Chinese people."

"The Chiang Kai-shek clique of national betrayal has no authority whatsoever to conclude any treaty with any country."

"The 'mutual security treaty' entered into between the United States and Chiang Kai-shek has no legal basis whatever and is null and void."

"This treaty is a betrayal of China's sovereignty and territorial rights and is resolutely opposed by the Chinese people."

Chou said the U. S. government had disregarded "repeated protests and warnings" by the Communist Chinese about this treaty. He added:

Japan's Leaders Huddle to Pick Prime Minister

TOKYO (AP)—Brain trusters of a strange conservative-Socialist coalition that drove Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida from office huddled today to bargain over his successor.

The coalition agreed to call a vote for a new prime minister tomorrow in the lower house. The Diet approved extension of its special session through tomorrow for the balloting.

Ichiro Hatoyama, who favors increased trade with Red China within a framework of friendship with the West, appears to have the inside track.

But he may have to pay a stiff price to get Socialist backing. The Socialists are reported demanding that Hatoyama rule only for a month or two and then call new elections which the Socialists think will bring them big gains.

The threat of a comeback by Yoshida's Liberal party probably will help keep the Socialists in line behind Hatoyama.

Yoshida turned over the reins of the Liberal party today to his deputy Taketora Ogata. The Liberals probably will nominate Ogata for prime minister. They have 186 votes. The Democrats have 120 and the Socialists 133, for a coalition total of 233.

Leading Japanese newspapers said today the 76-year-old Yoshida, who led defeated Japan back into the family of nations, was "stabbed in the back" by leaders of his own party.

Barrage of Butcher Knives Stops Bandit

DENVER (AP)—Louis Fiffles reached for one of the knives on his butcher's block yesterday when a masked holdup man commanded him to "put your hands up or I'll shoot."

"Go ahead," said Fiffles, about 70, as he let fly the knife. It missed. The bandit retreated a step, still holding a pistol. Fiffles flung a second knife. It missed too.

Fiffles reached for another knife. The gunman was gone.

Members Have Long Background-- First Crew Completes Course Of Stratojet Flight Training

When the weary crew of Maj. Donald F. Braze, of the 488th Bomb Squadron at Sedalia Air Force Base, climbed from their B-47 Stratojet late Monday night, they had the distinction of being the first crew to complete the course of flying training required by the 340th Bomb Wing. They had just completed their final standardization check ride, climaxing months of training.

Major Braze, commander of "C" Flight in the 488th, and his crew of Capt. Eugene G. Simon, co-pilot, and Capt. Walter M. Adcock, observer, were given their final check by Maj. Bernard H. Stevens, a SAC instructor pilot.

The crew is composed of veteran fliers of varying background. Maj. Braze, who resides at 300 State Fair Blvd., is a senior pilot and aircraft observer with 13 years' service and 3,800 flying hours. He has 263 combat hours in the B-17 Flying Fortress of World War II fame and has been awarded the Air Medal with five Oak Leaf Clusters. In addition, he spent three years as an air attaché in Poland and other Iron Curtain countries.

Capt. Simon is a former fighter pilot and flight instructor. He has accumulated 3,000 hours, much of it in jets, in his 12 years of service.

Capt. Adcock is a senior observer with 2,400 flying hours. He has 10½ years in service and has flown 400 combat hours and holds the Air Medal with one Oak Leaf Cluster. Both Capt. Simon and Capt. Adcock live in Warrensburg.

Lt. Col. E. D. Wooten, 488th Commandant, gave much of the credit for the fine showing to the squadron engineering section, under Capt. Truman C. Wyatt, for its effort in keeping the planes in commission. He also extended the squadron's thanks to the 340th Armaments and Electronics and Field Maintenance Squadrons for their efforts toward keeping the planes in the air.

The new formula would boost state aid from the present $45 million a year to $61 million. Every district would have to levy a school tax of at least $1 for each $100 valuation in order to get enough state aid so there'll be at least $175 annually for each pupil's education.

In other final actions the special election committee headed by Sen. C. R. Hawkins (R) of Brumley recommended that:

Every county be required to vote on reorganizing its school districts each two years until all are reorganized.

After July 1, 1960, all teachers would be required to have at least a bachelor's degree.

County boards of education be elected by popular vote.

Another preliminary step to the 1955 legislature was taken as Senate Democrats elected Sen. Edward V. Long of Clarksville president pro tem in their organization caucus. He will succeed veteran Sen. Michael Kinney of St. Louis, who was not a candidate.

Sen. Floyd R. Gibson of Independence was reelected majority floor leader and Joseph A. Bauer of St. Louis got another term as secretary of the Senate.

Sen. McCarty (R-Wis) left Washington yesterday after making a blistering statement critical of President Eisenhower. His office said he would be gone for a week or 10 days. His destination was not announced.

Prospects were that the defense plant hearings would wind up tomorrow, much earlier than originally had been indicated.

Six witnesses, all from eastern Pennsylvania, were to be quizzed today. Sen. Mundt (R-SD), who presided at yesterday's sessions, said some of them would be from the Bethlehem Steel Co. plant in Bethlehem and some from other companies.

The subcommittee heard three employees from the Bethlehem plant yesterday. All were identified as onetime Reds by Herman E. Thomas of Allentown, Pa., a former undercover agent for the FBI in the Communist party.

Two invoked Fifth Amendment protection against self-incriminating testimony in declining to answer questions about possible Communist affiliations, and Bethlehem promptly announced it would fire them. Mundt had demanded that this be done.

McCarty put in two brief appearances yesterday. In one he delivered his blast at Eisenhower. He took no part in questioning witnesses.

President Refuses Quarrel

Eisenhower Says He Will Not Indulge In Such Response To Charge By Mac

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, dealing with questions about Sen. McCarthy's attack on him, declared emphatically today he has no intention of indulging in personal vituperation or quarrels.

The president came up with a crisp No when asked for comment at his news conference on the McCarthy attack.

And in what he did say later, Eisenhower never did mention McCarthy by name.

In this, the President was sticking to his repeatedly stated policy of refusing to talk about McCarthy as an individual.

The first question put to Eisenhower, at the crowded news conference, dealt with McCarthy's personal attack.

McCarthy yesterday accused the President of a "shrinking show of weakness" to ward communism and of tolerance for Reds who torture and imprison Americans.

A reporter summarized McCarthy's charges and then asked the President whether he cared to comment in view of what the newsman termed the personal nature of the criticism.

The reporter also asked whether Eisenhower saw any danger to the Republican party in the McCarthy attack.

After a moment's hesitation, the President shot back briskly that the answer with respect to the first part of the question—whether he cared to comment in view of the personal nature of the criticism—was No.

Eisenhower then added forcefully that he does not intend to indulge in personal vituperation or quarrels.

The President went on to say he always has upheld the right of Congress to conduct investigations, and will continue to do so.

As for the second part of the opening question, whether Eisenhower saw any danger to the Republican party in the McCarthy attack, the President referred to Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee. He suggested they ask Hall, what, in his opinion, the impact will be on the party.

By all signs, McCarthy decided deliberately on a break with the administration. It was no of cuff remark, but a prepared-in-advance statement, when he lashed at the President yesterday.

McCarthy apologized to American voters for telling them in the 1952 campaign that election of Eisenhower would guarantee "a vigorous, forceful fight against Communism in government."

"I was mistaken," he declared. In the past there has been a good deal of friction between McCarthy and the administration on the Communist issue and foreign policy. But Eisenhower, although critical of the senator in general terms, steadfastly has declined to speak out against him as an individual.

The United Fund and Community Chest Drive ended at the Sedalia Air Force Base Dec. 6 with a total of $2,778 contributed. Col. Thomas A. Miller, project officer, stated that two squadrons have yet to turn in their donations and that he expects around $315 from them, which would bring the total amount to about $3,000.

The money issue and foreign policy. But Eisenhower, although critical of the senator in general terms, steadfastly has declined to speak out against him as an individual.

Pettis Draft Board Holds Up Notices Until After Jan. 1

The Pettis County draft board will, for the third straight year, have a Christmas present for the young men in this area.

No induction notices, classification cards or classification questionnaires will be mailed out until after New Year's Day.

Mrs. Verna Williams, clerk, said that in this way the board hoped to avoid dampening the holiday cheer.

Welfare Code Is Proposed At CIO Talks

Committee Devises It After Hearing Different Views

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The CIO convention today was expected to adopt a code designed to safeguard union welfare funds from graft and "make sure that maximum benefits" are paid to beneficiaries.

An ethical practices committee came up with the code after receiving the views of insurance firms and other experts in the field at recent hearings in New York City. Disclosures that some union officials and insurance brokers had profited handsomely from handling such funds prompted the study.

Among the recommendations slated for convention adoption were:

1. Welfare funds should be audited at least semiannually by independent certified public accountants.

2. Trustees should make public at least once a year "all pertinent facts concerning the administration of welfare funds" including salaries, expenses, fees paid and for what purpose.

3. Company or union officials acting as trustees or administrators should not get extra compensation beyond their regular salaries.

4. Welfare programs carried through insurance companies should be awarded "on the basis of lowest net cost for given benefits provided by a responsible company. The company should warrant that no fee has been paid directly or indirectly to any representative of the parties in connection with the coverage provided."

5. Insurance carriers should be required to furnish statements for public distribution specifying "claims experience, commissions and amounts of dividends received and to whom paid."

6. Brokers performing no service should get no commissions or fees, and laws requiring fees for no service should be repealed, with the savings devoted to "greater benefits for beneficiaries."

7. National unions should establish and enforce specific standards "as above outlined for their local and national union welfare funds, and supply locals with advice for negotiating and administering such funds."

Union welfare funds are now estimated to aggregate about 20 billion dollars.

The convention late yesterday adopted a resolution urging completion of negotiations toward a merger with the AFL.

"There are no roadblocks as far as we are concerned," CIO President Walter Reuther told delegates. "There are problems that must be met. There are principles that must be protected and implemented in a practical way."

Reuther, along with CIO Secretary-treasurer James B. Carey and David J. McDonald, president of the CIO United Steelworkers, all said in speeches that they are optimistic and hope to renew merger talks early next year.

"I don't think anybody has any magic that can accomplish labor's' route overnight," Reuther said. "We are going to have to work at this."

Jordan Pupils March In Protest Against Hanging of Moslems

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—A thousand secondary school students paraded to the Egyptian Embassy today, protesting Egypt's hanging of six Moslem Brotherhood members charged with trying to overthrow Egypt's military government.

There was no violence as soldiers and police surrounded the embassy and guarded the marching route through Amman. Communist influence was indicated.

The six brotherhood members were hanged in Cairo yesterday after being convicted Saturday of plotting to assassinate Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser and unseat his government.

Allies Expect Russia to Set Obstacles to Delay UN Debate

Most of Them Feel, However, That Soviet Tactics Could Not Hold Up Action More Than Day on Demand for Airmen's Release

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The 16 Korean War Allies looked for Russia to throw up procedural roadblocks today in an effort to delay U. N. Assembly debate on Red China's jailing of 11 U. S. fliers as spies.

Most diplomats felt, however, such Soviet tactics could not hold up action for more than a day on the Allies' demand that the U. N. denounce the Chinese action as a violation of the Korean armistice and seek the release of the men.

U. N. observers said Russia could delay things a while by:

1. Arguing the Assembly has no right to handle the case on grounds that it dealt with espionage rather than prisoners of war.

2. Demanding that the case be allocated first to the 60-nation Political Committee instead of going direct to the Assembly as recommended by the Steering Committee.

3. Insisting that Red China be invited here to give her side in the debate.

The Assembly must decide on all such points before turning to discussion of the Allied resolution, which calls on Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to work for release of the 11 airmen and report back to the Assembly by Dec. 31.

Hammarskjold is expected to approach the Chinese through some neutral state.

India is understood to have indicated her willingness to act as go-between.

U. S. sources said they anticipated no opposition to the resolution except from the five-nation Soviet bloc and a few Asian states who feel the case should first be placed in the hands of the Korean Military Armistice Commission. The United States hopes for a big vote of approval that might influence Red China to free the prisoners.

U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. yesterday gave Hammarskjold a letter naming four other American airmen that Red Chinese representatives to the Geneva conference admitted were being held by Peking. Lodge charged that their detention constituted an additional violation of the Korean armistice.

The meeting was the Christmas program for Ship 69 and Troop 69. Paul Anthes, skipper of Ship 69, was master of ceremonies.

Guest speaker was the Rev. F. Baepfer, Clark's Fork, who gave an illustrated talk on Christmas in Palestine.

Rev. Baepfer is well versed in the background of the Holy Land, having studied its geographical and archeological characteristics at the University of Jerusalem. He received an honorary doctor's degree in Berlin.

The pastor, the Rev. Walter F. Strickert, gave the invocation and benediction.

Julius Stohr, Pettis District chairman, complimented Grant's praisings on his progress. Mrs. Dailey was then presented with the corsage. Anthes escorted Grant to the front of the room, where he received the Eagle award from his mother.

There was an exchange of children's toys, each of which was displayed by the Explorers and Scouts and then delivered by Gilbert Kueck, troop and ship secretary, to the Melita Day Nursery.

Also attending were the past Pettis District chairman, Harry S. Naegele, and Lou Linn, Scout executive.

Pontiff Radios Blessing

Closes Marian Year With Broadcast Taped at Bedside; Thousands Hear Him

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII tonight closed the Marian Year with a broadcast blessing to the world, recorded at his bedside. The pope said:

"As we behold the entire Catholic world, kneeling today like one family at the feet of the immaculate Virgin, we are grateful to the Lord who, as a seal on such a multitude of prayers and good works offered up to him during this year of grace, has asked of us suffering and sacrifice as an act of love."

"And so, with suffering in our members and sacrifice in our heart, we are glad to close this Marian Year by repeating together with our children gathered throughout the world, 'and may the blessing of Almighty God, father, son and Holy Ghost, descend upon you now and remain with you forever.'"

Thousands of prayerful Roman Catholics knelt in Rome's Basilica of St. Mary Major, oldest shrine to the Virgin, to hear the voice of their pontiff broadcast from the Vatican two miles away. Thousands more stood outside the basilica, where Pope Pius had inaugurated the Marian Year last Dec. 8.

The message had been recorded a few hours earlier at about the time the Pope, on the arm of his physician, left his bed for a brief walk in his room. A medical source explained he took a few steps, over several minutes' time, as a measure to avert the dangers of prolonged immobility.

In his apartment the Pope followed by radio the ceremony at St. Mary Major closing the year's special homage to the Virgin. Then an announcer in the basilica said:

"The Pope speaks."

The words sounded stronger than those of Sunday when the Pope gave an apostolic blessing from his sickbed. The Pope had wanted to make a "live" broadcast today, but aides persuaded him a recording would be less trying.

After his message the Pope recited the Ave Maria. The thousands in the basilica joined in.

Offers Master Electro-matic Traffic Signal

NEW YORK (AP)—It's a bigger Christmas in traffic jams too. More traffic in store aisles means more tieups on the streets — and there are more cars than ever this year to get stuck at intersections.

Electronic engineers are busily tackling the traffic officer's problems. First they thought up use of radar to clock speedsters on the open stretches of streets and highways.

Next, in spots where traffic sometimes only crawls, if that, electronics thought up a scheme of using radar to report changes in volume of approaching traffic and to time the red lights accordingly.

Now the engineers are coming up with still another idea — using those mechanical brains to clock and map changing traffic conditions and then more or less automatically change traffic signals over whole sections of the cities to accommodate sudden and unpredictable shifts in the flow of traffic, or such jams as occur at shifting time at factories.

Bob Thomas In Hollywood— Hope's Show Will Take On A New International Flavor

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Tonight Bob Hope's TV show takes on an international flavor that you'll be seeing more of in future shows. Hope will present an hour show which he made recently in London. Among his attractions: Maurice Chevalier, Beatrice Lillie, French ballerina Liane Daye and the Colonne Choir. I dropped in at Hope's Toluca Lake mansion and heard him enthuse about the show.

"You gotta stay ahead of people in television," he said. "I just got back from Dallas, where I helped open a new bank. I realized again how hep the general public is about TV entertainment. They watch everything."

Hope, who has six shows to do this season, decided early that he stream of traffic information, mechanically reported from many intersections, which it files in its electric brain. The company engineers say the device then automatically determines the most efficient operating pattern for the traffic signals to which it is connected.

When the volume of traffic from the east suddenly swells, traffic signals are turned to let it through the intersection. As northbound traffic volume builds up, the signals are changed to clear it and speed it on its way.

would try to do something different. Most of the good variety acts and guest stars have been seen over and over on TV, so a new attack was needed. When he accepted a bid for the command performance in London, he decided to work in his TV show over there.

At first union problems seemed rugged. The musicians' union has frowned on the use of foreign-made music on American TV shows. Hope called union boss James Petrillo. "Bring back anything you want, Bob," said Petrillo, "but come home soon."

"Naturally I wanted Chevalier," said Hope. "He is the greatest. I saw him do a two-hour show in Paris with nothing but a piano on the stage with him. Even in French, the show was terrific. He's 66 now, but when that smile lights up his face, he looks like 34.

"I had to have Bea Lillie too. She was touring in her own show, so I had to follow her to rehearsal. I went from London to Edinburgh and back to London."

Hope feels that such a different kind of show will draw the top audience rating. He said that the rating on his last show, Oct. 12, was only 4 below the leader, I Love Lucy—which is not bad for a lad who is on every month or so."

Pope Prepares Radio Blessing From Sick Bed

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII made last-minute preparations today to close the Marian Year with a blessing broadcast to the world from his sick bed. A television set was installed in his bedroom so that he could watch the live ceremonies honoring the Virgin Mary.

Thunderstorms disturbed the Pope's rest during the night but the skies over Rome and Vatican City were bright and sunny today. A Vatican spokesman said except for the storm's disturbances the 78-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church passed a "relatively good night."

Today was an important one for the pontiff, who inaugurated the Marian Year just a year ago to honor the Virgin and commemorate the centenary of the dogma of her immaculate conception. The dogma established as Roman Catholic faith the belief that Mary alone of mankind was born without the stain of Adam and Eve's original sin.

Roman Catholics throughout the world have been holding special services and congress in her honor.

The Pope approved from his bed yesterday a decree for the causes of beatification and canonization of Pope Pius IX, who proclaimed the dogma 100 years ago.

The Pope had desired keenly to participate in the final ceremony of the year-long observance today at Rome's Basilica of St. Mary Major. His collapse last Thursday, following a recurrence of acute gastritis and hiccups, made that impossible.

An official medical bulletin from the Vatican press office said last night, "The gradual improvement of the Pope continues."

In another departure from the routine of complete rest prescribed by his physicians, the Pope by remote control last night lighted an electric torch at a seaside Sicilian shrine of the Virgin Mary. His assistant secretary of state, Msgr. Angelo Dell'Aquila brought a switch to his bed, the Pope touched it and almost 500 miles away, on Sicily's east coast, the torch lighted at the Sanctuary of the Most Holy Mary of Consolation at Paternò.

"Now the Pope is praying," said a Vatican radio announcer describing the scene in the papal apartment.

His Luck Runs Out; Damage Bill Is Raised

LEVAN, Utah (AP)—George Floyd Hanna of Provo hit a slick spot on the road Tuesday, as he drove along U.S. Highway 91.

His car flipped completely over and landed on its wheels. Inspecting the damage, Hanna, 32, counted himself lucky. All he could find was a broken radiator hose.

So Hanna pulled the car off the road and hiked the mile-and-a-half into Levan for a new hose.

While he was gone, 57-year-old R. M. Allred of Utah's Emery County hit the same slick spot and smashed into Hanna's parked car.

When Hanna returned with his new radiator hose, he learned it would take a little more to make his car run again.

Highway Trooper E. C. Sherwood estimated it would take about $500 more.

Bosses Attend J. C. Meeting, Hear Address by W. S. Lowe

If Sedalia Junior Chamber of Commerce members attending the dinner meeting Tuesday night at the Pacific Cafe introduced their guests with extraordinary respect, it was because most of those guests were their bosses.

The Bosses Night dinner is an annual affair, and this year approximately 25 bosses attended.

Guest speaker of the evening was W. S. Lowe, president of the A. P. Green Fire Brick Co. of Mexico, who stressed the need for individual responsibility and service to others in an age when we are in danger of losing spiritual control in the rush of technological advance.

Lowe was preceded by Ralph Luckman, first vice-president in 1953 of the Missouri Jaycees, now the state organization's training chairman.

Luckman advised the Jaycees of the 18-point project program now under way throughout the state and the Spark Plug program, both of which encourage active participation by Jaycees in civic projects. He said that in this particular phase, Missouri stood second this year among the 48 states, topped only by Wisconsin.

Jack Faber, program chairman, introduced Lowe, who listed many ways in which we have advanced technologically since the turn of the century, among them the fact that we have now an average standard of living four times that of 1900. In 1900 each person had an average of two horsepower working for him, while today he has ten horsepower at his command.

Once, he said, we feared limits upon our resources, but now solar and atomic energy know no bounds and we have learned well the lessons of efficiency. Our technological advance has multiplied the number of jobs rather than decreased it. Our material future is assured.

"But, Lowe asked, have we learned to live with these material gains? We have more idle time. What do we do with it? History has taught, he said, that lack of progress or inability to face them brings a nation's downfall.

He said that history also teaches that spiritual growth within a

Gov. Thornton Learns Many Dogs Resemble His Lost Retriever

DENVER (AP)—There's only one Zip, Gov. Dan Thornton wants the nice people of Denver to know, and he's been found.

Zip, a golden retriever, strayed from the governor's quarters last week but was recovered a few days later after stories about him appeared in the papers.

Trouble is, there are more dogs that look like Zip in Denver than anyone knew. And most of them have been brought to Thornton's door by well-meaning citizens the last few days.

One gent called with a golden retriever under his arm yesterday. Told the real Zip had returned, the caller told Thornton he'd taken a taxi all the way across town to return the pup. The governor dug into his pocket and paid the cab fare.

Teen-agers Are Held After Two Accidents

BLACKFOOT, Idaho (AP)—Four teen-aged youths took a joy ride yesterday, one that landed them in county custody.

Officers said the old-model coupe, driven by 19-year-old Floyd Coby, overturned along the Rose-Groveland Road. Unhurt, the boys righted it and drove on.

But four miles down the road, the coupe was demolished when it went out of control and crashed into a bridge abutment.

Still unhurt, the boys were taken into custody by sheriff's officers. Coby was fined $50 and given 30 days in jail for reckless driving.

Medical Team Reports Possible Syphilis Guard

CHICAGO (AP)—Encouraging evidence that a syphilis preventive can be developed was reported by a medical team today.

The doctors based their hopes for a syphilis vaccine on the results of 15 months of experiments with 62 volunteers at Sing Sing Penitentiary in Ossining, N. Y.

Such a vaccine would complete medical science's one-two punch knockout of the disease. For several years doctors have been curing syphilis with penicillin.

Dr. John C. Cutler, senior surgeon and acting chief of the venereal disease program of the U.S. Public Health Service, described the experiments at the annual meeting of the American Academy of Dermatology and Syphilology.

Before the infection, an injection of killed syphilis organisms was given to members of one group. The other group did not receive the killed organisms.

Dr. Cutler said: "An injection of killed syphilis organisms apparently protected part of the volunteers from being infected a second time when inoculated with live organisms."

"Results show that a significant immunity develops during the course of human syphilis. This confirms the concepts of immunity established in animal experimentation."

"The 15-month study also developed information suggesting the possibility that a vaccine might be developed to immunize against syphilis."

Debates Montgomery's Idea That Flattops Will Fade Out

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Asst. Secretary of the Navy James H. Smith says the big U.S. 6th Fleet with its aircraft carriers is kept in the Mediterranean because the North Atlantic Treaty Command, of which British Field Marshal Montgomery is deputy, wants it there.

But Smith makes plain that the Navy isn't there by its choice, because the confines of that narrow fleet.

Smith's views came to light today in an outline of material he prepared for use at a news conference Monday, but all of which he did not use at that time. He made the remainder available today.

Smith, who handles naval affairs, called the Monday conference to reply to some of the points raised by Montgomery in an address last week at Los Angeles. The famed British soldier had said—to the consternation of the carrier-conscious U.S. Navy—that the day of the flattop is drawing to an end.

In Smith's notations, he said, Montgomery focused his discussion on Europe, the North Atlantic and Mediterranean, which the American Navy official called "relatively small areas compared to the Pacific and Asia." Then, still referring to Montgomery, Smith wrote:

"He talks about the fact that navies in narrow seas such as the Mediterranean do not need their own air forces. Yet the organization (NATO) of which he is deputy supreme commander preaches a requirement for the 6th Fleet with its heavy air attack capability to remain in the Mediterranean."

"We in the Navy comply with this requirement, but in doing so we realize that the very mobility which Montgomery stresses as being essential is reduced by forcing the fleet to operate in narrow waters in order to be able to strike land targets which apparently cannot be reached by land-based aircraft of the NATO forces."

"In my opinion, narrow seas should not need naval striking forces and I only regret that there are not air forces available in Europe which could control the narrow seas such as the Mediterranean and the air above. The reason such air forces have not been developed is because no European power has stressed naval aviation sufficiently."

Ridgway Cautions Against Idea Modern War Would End Fast

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—Gen. Matthew Ridgway Tuesday cautioned against a "dangerous" assumption, which he said was prevalent in some circles, that "modern wars may be quickly won by means of mass destruction weapons which will make unnecessary the operations of ground combat forces."

Only ground forces, the Army chief of staff said, could consolidate a victory in another world war. Speaking at The Citadel, South Carolina military school, Ridgway said in prepared remarks that "only ground forces can defeat enemy ground forces." And because air units and navies must operate from land bases, he said, the seizure and occupation of such enemy bases by ground troops would contribute to victory at sea and in the air.

Plan To Increase Tourist Traffic Here

The Conventions and Tourists Division of the Chamber of Commerce met Tuesday with W. E. Bingham, director, in charge. P. Cecil Owen, chairman of the tourist committee, and Rex Phillips is chairman of the conventions committee.

Plans were formulated for the year and an effort will be made to increase tourist traffic for Sedalia. It was also planned to bring as many conventions here as possible.

A discussion was held on putting up signs on Highways 50 and 65 directing people to the business district. SLIGHT HURTS RECEIVED IN THIS WRECK—A 1950 Chevrolet sedan driven by Miss Mary Dorweiler, 2500 South Ohio, overturned as the car left the road near the T and O Line and Rock Quarry. Tuesday night, and was saved from a 150-foot plunge down a bluff by a tree. Miss Francis Bennett, 17, 821 West 11th received a slight laceration, while Miss Dorweiler and Miss Harriet Smith, 1818 East Broadway, were only shaken up. The car body was badly damaged. The accident was a result of an approaching dirt falling to dim the lights on the car, causing Miss Dorweiler to pull to the right and off the road.

Three Sedalia Girls Escape Harm In Wreck

Three young Sedalia girls narrowly escaped serious injury, and possibly death, about 10 o'clock Tuesday night when the car they were riding in overturned near the T and O Line and Rock Quarry north of Sedalia. The car rolled off the road and against a tree. Had the tree snapped, the car could have rolled approximately 150 feet down a bluff.

Miss Francis Bennett, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Bennett, 821 West 11th, suffered a laceration about an inch long on the right eye. She was rushed to the Bothwell Hospital in the Gillespie ambulance and was treated by Dr. T. J. Hopkins.

The car, a 1950 Chevrolet sedan, was driven by Miss Mary Dorweiler, 17, of 2500 South Ohio, and Mrs. Frank Dorweiler, and they were accompanied by Miss Harriet Smith, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Smith, 1818 East Broadway. Both girls were shaken up but not injured.

Miss Bennett was riding in the back seat when the accident occurred and she was struck by a piece of glass from one of the windows which was smashed as the car rolled over.

The girls had been riding around and were headed west down the gravel road toward Highway 66 when the accident occurred. Miss Dorweiler apparently pulled slightly to the right when blinded by the lights and the car left the road, which is very narrow at the location. The car rolled over once and stopped on the left side, the front headed back toward the road and the bottom portion of the car resting against the tree and underbrush.

Chamberlain's wrecker went to the scene and pulled the car back to the road and towed it to Sedalia. The car was badly damaged.

Real Estate Leader Dies In Moberly

MOBERLY, Mo. (AP)—A Missouri real estate man died in a hospital here yesterday after an illness of seven days.

He was Willard Sims Haynes, 51, former president of the Missouri Real Estate Board and a director of the board. He was secretary of the Randolph County Selective Service Board during World War II.

He said the rearming of East Germany is "forced" on his region by West Germany's union with the North Atlantic pact and its plan to raise an army of 500,000.

Grotewohl said rearmament depends, of course, on whether the Paris treaties creating a West German force within NATO are ratified. But he said the authority to go ahead is needed now and he spoke as though he expects the Paris pact to come into force.

"We must be strong, else we shall invite invasion," Grotewohl said.

Accidents

Suffers Sprained Shoulder
James D. Simmons, 1005 South Missouri, sustained minor injury in a two-car collision at the intersection of Tenth and Vermont about 6:17 p. m. Tuesday. Simmons suffered a sprained left shoulder, and was taken to the office of Dr. T. J. Hopkins for treatment.

Involved in the accident were Simmons, driving a 1939 Oldsmobile club coupe north on Vermont, and Harry E. Schick, 1023 East Fourth, who was traveling east on Tenth in a 1953 Ford.

There was damage to the front end of Schick's car and to the left door of Simmons' auto.

The name of Olen Downs, Route 4, was inadvertently used in the Tuesday Democrat in connection with an accident in which Dale William F. son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Cairer, 1913 South Harrison, was hurt when struck by an auto Monday afternoon. By mistake Olen Downs' name was published as the driver of the auto which struck the boy. Upon report of the error a check was made and it was found that Dale Downs, 1701 South Montgomery, was the driver of the car involved in the mishap and that Olen Downs was in no way connected with it.

Argentine Police Ban Annual Procession Honoring Virgin Mary

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Plans for a huge Roman Catholic ceremony to mark the end of the church's Marian year appeared doomed today in the wake of a police ban on the annual procession of clergy and laymen honoring the Virgin Mary.

Church authorities said police, at the last moment, refused permission for the scheduled procession through downtown Buenos Aires last night. No official reasons were given but President Juan Peron and the Argentine Catholic hierarchy have been at odds publicly for several weeks.

Differences between Peron and the Argentine Catholic hierarchy broke into the open Nov. 10 when the President charged in a speech that members of the clergy were seeking to infiltrate labor and youth organizations in order to undermine his cause. Eight priests have been arrested.

11th, reported gas tank caps were stolen from the cars of William Altis automobile, parked in front of her home, from Joe Nicastro's car at 508 East 11th and Arthur Sexton, 510 East 11th. The same type robbery occurred the night of Dec. 3.

Mrs. Frank Pabst, 2300 East 16th, reported that sometime in the past two weeks between 27 and 30 quarts of canned fruits and vegetables were stolen from the basement of her home.

Le Roy Easter, 623 East Tenth, claimed a bicycle which was found and taken to police headquarters.

Police Court

Duane McMullin, 1703 South Stewart, charged with double parking in the 100 block on West Fourth, forfeited a $2 cash bond.

Cline Cain, 821 South Missouri, charged with running a stop sign at 13th and Ohio, forfeited a $5 cash bond.

J. M. Schneck, 207 South Grand, charged with running a stop sign at Broadway and Limit, forfeited a $5 cash bond.

Shelton P. Lindsey, Sedalia Air Force Base, charged with driving a car while intoxicated, failed to appear in police court Wednesday and his $75 cash bond was forfeited.

Fourteen overtime parkers who failed to appear in police court forfeited their cash bonds of $1 each.

Circuit Court

Mrs. Barbara Tatom filed suit Monday for a divorce from James D. Tatom, charging general indignities. She also asks custody of their one minor child and child support. She is represented by Crawford and Harlan.

Mrs. Rose Mary Paxton was granted a divorce from Harry Wesley Paxton, along with custody of their two minor children. Her attorney was Harold W. Barker.

Probate Court

Letters of administration were issued Monday in the estate of the late Mrs. Louise Gregory, who died Nov. 20. Listed as heirs were two daughters, Mrs. Opal Ruckman, Overland, and Mrs. Olive Gregory Yeager, Route 1, Sedalia, and four sons, Clyde, Wheatland, Arthur, 820 East 16th, Lawrence, Overland, and Clint, 618 East 14th. Attorney for the estate is George H. Miller.

Burros Eat Express Tags During Shipment

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Railway Express Agency attached new shipping tags to three little Mexican burros and sent them on their way. The animals ate their original tags before they arrived in Cleveland Union Terminal Sunday night.

The express agency, which says this happens every Christmas season, telegraphed the shipper in Laredo, Tex. He replied that one burro was bound for North Jackson, Ohio; one for Oyster Bay, N. Y., and one for Lexington, Ky.

rooming growth, the federal system for retirement or death benefits hardly scratched the surface on the farm. Fluctuating, hard-to-figure incomes, a tendency toward scant bookkeeping, and shifting workers presented special problems considered too tough to tackle.

Now, officials believe, these problems have been ironed out. The new social security law extends coverage to an estimated 3,600,000 farm operators—people farming for themselves; and to about 2,100,000 farm laborers—people doing farm work for others.

In the past, only about 700,000 farm laborers have been covered; in the future, all but about 700,000 out of a working farm population of roughly seven million will be covered.

Those who are covered, and their employers, will make regular payments to the Old Age and Survivors Insurance system (OAS). In return, they can get monthly benefits when they retire at age 65; or if they die before-hand, their survivors can get monthly benefits. These benefits range from $30 monthly for an individual up to $200 monthly for a family.

Here are the rules:
Farm Operators
In the past, farm operators have not been covered at all. Starting Jan. 1, 1955, they are covered if they make as much as $400 profit a year.

They will be required to make a special social security tax return when they file their regular income tax return. Thus, the first return will be due early in 1956.

The farm operators get a special privilege. If their total income for the year is below $1,800, they don't have to figure their net income or actual profit. They can just report half their gross income. If they do figure their net income, they can report that. In other words, the choice is up to them.

If total income is above $1,800, the farm operator must figure his net income or profit. If these net earnings are less than $900, he has another choice. He can report his actual earnings, or $900—which ever he chooses.

Both his taxes and his benefits will depend on his reported income. He pays a special social security tax of 3 per cent of his reported income, up to $4,200 a year. His benefits will be based on his average income over the period he is covered. The higher the income, the bigger the benefits.

Farm Laborers

Under the old law, farm laborers were covered if they were "regularly" hired by one employer and received cash wages of $50 or more from that employer in a three-month period, or quarter. The definitions were complex and records had to be kept over a long period to determine if a worker were covered.

Under the new law, the simple test is that the worker, to be covered, must be paid $100 by a single employer in a calendar year. The employer must deduct 2 per cent of these wages when they are paid, and add another 2 per cent of his own. The employer turns all this over to the government. The worker himself has no returns to make.

If a worker earns $75 a year from one employer and $75 from another, he is not covered. If he earns $150 from one employer and $150 from another, both employers must make their deductions and send in their returns on the work.

The employer's report must include each worker's name, wages paid him and social security number. A farm operator also must include his social security number in his own return.

Like others under the system, farmers must have at least 18 months coverage to become eligible for benefits.

US Keeps Reds Guessing Our Naval Policy

TAIPEH — Red China would love dearly to know the answer to this question: Will the U.S. 7th Fleet join the battle if the Communists try to capture any of Chiang Kai-shek's offshore islands?

The Reds will have to learn the answer the hard way. The officially avowed U.S. policy is to say nothing and keep the Reds guessing.

Possibly Chiang and a few other persons on Formosa know the answer. But everyone else here has been left guessing too.

If the United States has decided what island outposts must be retained by the Nationalists as protection for Formosa itself, Washington is keeping quiet about it.

The string of island bases controlled by the Nationalists dot some 350 miles of water from Quemoy in the south to the Tachens in the north.

Some of these—such as Quemoy, Matsu, White Dog and the Tachen group—might be considered worth holding. But many others are negligible.

One subject of constant speculation is this:

Would the Reds, in the face of possible U.S. intervention, dare risk an amphibious assault on any of the more important offshore islands?

Since the United States and Nationalist China signed the mutual defense pact Dec. 2 the Reds have shown no disposition to call off military activity.

But, on the other hand, they have shown no disposition to enlarge its present scope—at least not yet.

Nationalist reports over past weeks have portrayed a buildup of Communist strength apparently aimed at an invasion of the Tachens, 200 miles north of Formosa, and other Nationalist-held island outposts.

Consequently, although things appear relatively quiet now, the general impression here is that something bigger is bound to break—and not too long hence.

Chiang Commandos Nab 14 Communists

TAIPEH, Formosa — Chinese Nationalist soldiers caught 14 Communist soldiers asleep during a predawn raid yesterday on a small island and brought all back as prisoners, the Defense Ministry said today.

The commandos raided Tapo, roughly three miles northeast of close to the Red China coast opposite Formosa.

"The raid shows that the Communist shelling of Quemoy has not intimidated us and we are always ready to hit back," the spokesman said.

Texans Organize For Pursuing Bank Robbers

DALLAS, Tex. —Round up the posse, boys. We got to do something to catch these bank robbers. They're getting thicker than but-fal on the Texas range and the cost is terrific.

Just yesterday a galoot in blue jeans moseyed into the Citizens State Bank at Royse City, 35 miles northeast of here, and made off with $5,944. The day before, a city slicker type made off with $3,600 from Dallas' suburban Oak Lawn National Bank. He didn't even show a six-gun.

In the face of the growing robbery rate at banks, Dallas Police Chief Carl Hanson proposed that 12 other cities and use women for traffic officers and parking meter service. It would allow the men to be used in more police-like pursuits, such as chasing bank robbers.

Nobody's sure they saw the suave bandit who looked like a tenderfoot leave the Dallas bank. But at Royse City, the fire siren wailed, the bank president gave chase and for hours later county officials patrolled the roads. Neither of the bank robbers has been caught.

Chiang Troops Report Sporadic Gunfire Duels

TAIPEH, Formosa —The Nationalist Chinese Defense Ministry today reported sporadic gunfire duels with Chinese Communists.

The ministry said there was a light exchange between Nationalists on Quemoy and the Reds on Amoy. To the north, shots were traded between the Reds on Tachen Island and the Nationalists on Yikiang Island.

Viet Nam Chief Army Command To General Ty

SAIGON, Viet Nam —Premier Ngo Dinh Diem today offered the top post in South Viet Nam's army, chief of the general staff, to his personal choice for the job, newly promoted Brig. Gen. Le Van Ty.

The Premier asked the other leading candidate for the job, Gen. Nguyen Van Vy, to become inspector-general of the 200,000-man Vietnamese force.

The United States and France were known to have supported Vy for the top job as a younger, more energetic commander than Ty. Vy also was for a long time an aide to ex-Emperor Bao Dai, Viet Nam chief of state.

Diem objected to Vy, however, because he is a French citizen. The Premier contended this would stir criticism among anti-Communist nationalists and also provide a new target for propaganda from the Communist-led Vietminh.

Ty said he would reply to the Premier's offer within three days. The new chief of staff will succeed Gen. Nguyen Van Hinh, who was fired by Bao Dai two weeks ago after his defiance of the Premier had paralyzed the government for two months.

Since Hinh's dismissal, Vy has been acting chief of staff. Ty, a colonel until Diem promoted him recently, has commanded the 1st Military Region, which includes all of South Viet Nam.

Objects to Using Term 'Soviet Bloc'

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. —Soviet Delegate Georgi F. Saksin objected yesterday when U.S. Delegate Ade M. Johnson, of Tacoma, Wash., used the term "Soviet bloc" in debate yesterday.

Saksin said the term might be used by "your so-called press and your senators" but it was not fit for U.N. debate.

"There is no such thing as a Soviet bloc," he said.

Economic Fiasco Inspires An Underground Anti-Red Move

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

The Communist satellite nations of Eastern Europe appear to have cooked up an economic fiasco so serious that it is inspiring underground political opposition to the Red regimes, qualified observers report.

A New Course has been imposed in each of the satellite nations — Bulgaria, Romania, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Albania and East Germany. This drive toward industrialization in an attempt to meet the population's urgent needs. But Communist bureaucracy and economic facts of life have got in the way.

Hungary is a prime example of the economic chaos which has come about after years of domination by Stalinist Communists who now are being ordered — probably by Moscow — to mend their ways. Hungary, Czechoslovakia and other areas too of an apparently dangerous "political underworld" — that is, a still lusty opposition to the regimes.

Travelers from Budapest report the balloon leaflet campaign of the Crusade for Freedom, which operates Radio Free Europe, has had striking success. The leaf-

Historical Documents Are Taken By Mistake By Waste Collector

ALBANY, N. Y. —Two members of the state historian's staff planned to fly to Mont Rolland, Que., today to comb through 15,000 pounds of waste paper.

They'll search for thousands of state historical documents hauled off by mistake last October by a waste collector hired to remove files discarded by the State Department of Audit and Control. They've been traced to a paper mill in Mont Rolland.

Dr. Albert Corey, state historian, said the papers included a 1795 treaty with the Cayuga Indians, fiscal papers of governors from 1815 to 1830 and early railroad contracts. He said he feared many had already been destroyed in the paper reconversion process.

Children Know Best How To Deal With Santa Claus

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—It has always been my contention that children are more intelligent than grown-ups.

One sign of intelligence is the ability to get what you really need or want out of life.

And the Christmas season is the time when the kids best show their mental superiority over adults in this respect. A child knows exactly the presents he knows the right technique for getting them.

The little boys and girls get out their school pads and pencils and write letters such as the following:

"Dear Santa Claus,
"I am a littil girl just ate yares old. Boy, have I ben a good girl. I ben so good my Mommy says if she had another littil girl just like me she wouldn't know whut to do.

"I wanna bike and pigtails and a net dress and police don't bring me no more dolls on accounta I awready got more dolls than a store.

Your littil fren,
Rosebud O'Hare."

On Christmas Day Rosebud and her pal next door, Butch Rosen- cranz, compare the loot.

"Sure, I got zactly what I want- ed," brags Rosebud. "Don't you think my Daddy can read plain writing?"

"I thought you ast for pigtails-- you ain't got no pigtails," objects Butch.

"Silly, I knew there wasn't time to grow pigtails 'fore Chris'muss," says Rosebud. "I jus' put that in about pigtails so they'd be sure to get me the bike. That's what I really wanted."

It is this striking innocence about children that pays off. They have faith. Grownups are only older children with ulcers, and they get the ulcers because they are frustrated, and it is their own fault usually that they are frustrated.

They have lost faith. They pre- tend they aren't mad when they don't get what they want for Christmas, but they really are hurt, and they sulk inside.

The real reason they often don't get what they want is because they are so dumb. Any child realizes Santa Claus has to be told what to bring. But silly grownups make their secret Christmas wishes and keep them to themselves. Then they get angry because Santa Claus hasn't been able to read their mind.

Here is what an adult should do. He should sit down and write a letter as follows:

"Dear Santa Claus,
"I am just a poor tired grown- up. But I've been a good boy all year. I never have got what I wanted for Christmas.

"This year I'd like to. I want some gloves, size 10, and some shirts with regular collars (next 13½, sleeves 33), and a pair of black shoes (size 10-c), and a blue camel's hair coat (size 42 regular), a sailboat with an outboard motor, an aqualung, a one-man subma- rine, new car (any size), and any spare cash you got lying around.

Your big friend,
Roscoe McFuddle."

Don't address this letter to the North Pole. Make 100 copies. Send one copy to your wife, 49 to your favorite friends and enemies, and the other 50 to people picked at random who have a high rating in Dun & Bradstreet.

How do you know it won't work? A friend of mine tried it. He wrote a Santa Claus letter--and sent it to 100 ladies listed in a social directory--saying, "I am just a poor lonely balding bachelor with high principles who, once in his life, would like to have a beauti- ful girl take him out to dinner on Christmas."

Well, it didn't turn out quite as he expected. He had hoped for a beautiful young blonde.

"Nobody showed up but a wealthy widow," he confessed. "But I certainly don't feel I wast- ed my stamp money."

The main thing for grownups to remember is this: If you really have faith in Santa Claus, and go to the trouble of letting him know what you want--well, he'll do the best he can.

Wayne Morse Digs Nixon

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Ever since the election, when it became apparent that Oregon's bushy-browed Sen. Wayne Morse would cast the deciding vote in the Senate, both Republican and Democratic leaders have been super-sweet to the independent senator they used to cold-shoulder.

For example, Vice President Nixon sidled up to Morse the other day and grabbed his hand.

"Wayne, I want to congratulate you on the high calibre campaign you conducted," boomed the Vice President, referring to the past election campaign.

"Dick," retorted Morse evenly, "I wish I could say the same for you."

Cabinet Feud

Treasury Secretary Humphrey, the man closest to Eisenhower, is embroiled in three backstage battles with cabinet colleagues. Their outcome will affect the economy of the United States for months to come. They might also lead to the exit of George Humphrey from official life.

Battle No. 1—is with Secretary of State Dulles, et al, over a huge new Marshall Plan for Asia. Humphrey is opposed on the ground that it will unbalance the budget. So far Dulles has won out.

Battle No. 2—is with Secretary of Agriculture Benson over the disposal of crop surpluses. Humphrey does not want them dumped abroad in any quantity on the argument that such dumping becomes an indirect crop support.

Battle No. 3—is over loans to Latin America. Here the President's brother Milton is on the other side of the fence—though not actively embroiled in the dispute.

Much more involved are Senators Capehart of Indiana, Hickenlooper of Iowa, Congressman Fulton of Pennsylvania, who, though Republicans, believe the GOP Secretary of the Treasury is too tightfisted in loaning money to Latin America. They argue that the best way to prevent communism and help develop our good neighbors.

Dulles' Footwork

It was while Humphrey was in Rio de Janeiro fighting Battle No. 3 that he just about lost Battle No. 1. This is with John Foster Dulles, Secretary of Defense Wilson and Foreign Operations Administrator Harold Stassen over a Marshall Plan to Asia.

Dulles, who was supposed to go to the Rio conference, decided not to go, appointing Humphrey as chief U.S. delegate—though not for the purpose of working behind Humphrey's back. While Humphrey was gone, however, he did get busy with some fast footwork which lined up part of the cabinet for the Asiatic Marshall Plan.

Meeting three times with Eisenhower, Dulles got his okay. Charley Wilson also concurred—provided the Marshall Plan went hand in hand with a bigger Army, Navy, Air Force. Eisenhower agreed.

Dulles then called a secret meeting of newsmen at a downtown hotel and leaked the idea that current American economic policies with Asia were not good; that to remedy this Eisenhower had agreed to back his aid plan even if it meant unbalancing the budget.

Stassen, who was already sold on the idea, quickly called newsmen to a similar confidential luncheon. Charley Wilson did likewise.

So when Humphrey got back from Rio it was too late. He could have had a personal showdown with Ike and threatened his resignation, but Humphrey doesn't believe in operating that way.

This means that the Defense Department, instead of cutting back on spending, will ask Congress for $2,000,000,000 more. It also means that Dulles and Stassen will launch a giant development program in Asia which may last up to 20 years.

As a result, business in the USA should be good, though it will be inflationary, with an unbalanced budget—just as under the Democrats—which was why Humphrey was against it.

Note—In his difference with Secretary Benson, Humphrey argues that Benson should limit the amount of surplus food the USA dumps abroad to $400,000,000. Benson wants to send all he can. Humphrey claims that surplus-food disposal might turn into price supports under another name, and that this stimulation of the market would encourage overproduction.

Handmaid of the Lord

If Senator Welker of Idaho is going to use the Bible in battling for Senator McCarthy, he will have to get up early in the morning to better devout Mormon Sen. Wallace Bennett of Utah.

Interrogating Senator Bennett regarding his amendment to censure Joe for calling the Watkins committee unwitting handmaidens of communism, Welker challenged:

"The other day the senator referred to 'handmaid' as a vulgar expression."

"No," countered Bennett.

"Yes, the senator did," insisted Welker, "though he may have stricken it out of the record. I shall check the record."

"I am sorry," corrected Bennett. "I said the definition was that 'handmaid' or 'handmaiden' was a servant of low degree. It does not seem to me that that imputes vulgarity."

The senator from Idaho went off on another tack. "Now I quote to the senator the words of Holy Scripture, and I am sure that he knows more about them than I do because he is a devout Christian man, not only in his own faith but in all faiths: 'Behold the handmaid of the Lord.'"

"That was the answer of the mother of Christ to the angel Gabriel, who brought her the message that she was to become the mother of Christ," concluded Welker triumphantly.

"I am sure," snapped back the senator from Utah, "that the person who said that felt that she was a person of low degree compared to Him from whom the message came."

Tots of Sitters

The United Nations headquarters in New York has been getting far more wear and tear than originally been estimated, according to its director of General Services David B. Vaughan.

He explains this is due to the large number of visitors, the guided tours and the extensive use of lounge areas. This has caused furniture and equipment to wear out eight to ten times faster than had been expected. UN has just had to appropriate $170,000 to replace worn-out fixtures.

Political Exaggerations

By Bruce Blossat

For years we Americans have been excusing the wild exaggerations of our political campaigners, usually with something like: "That's the way it's always been. Why worry about it?"

The trouble with this casual approach is that it never makes the campaigners any better. If anything, they're getting worse. Some of the wilder fancies just look funny in retrospect, but a lot of them seem like a pretty grim commentary on the quality of American political life.

Maybe it would help if we went around reminding our politicians of some of the things they said during the heat of combat. Maybe we ought to check up on a few of their claims, just to see how matters really worked out.

For instance, in the closing days of the New York governorship race, Democrat Averell Harriman charged that retiring Governor Dewey had been in such a hurry to finish the New York Thruway for "political purposes," that he used quick-drying cement in certain places which would have to be ripped up and replaced after the election.

Harriman also said the road was so incomplete as to shoulders, guardrails and what not that it would have to be closed later on so work could be finished.

Well, we'd like to hear a report on that quick-drying cement. Has anybody been out there to see if it has been ripped up? Or is it still in use? And how about the shoulders and the rest of it?

The last we heard, the Thruway was still open and no cracks were showing.

Then, in Illinois, the GOP choice for the Senate, Joseph Meek, said if his Democratic opponent, Senator Paul Douglas, should be re-elected, we'd wake up the day after election to "find our way of life gone."

Douglas did win, and the Democrats took the Congress. But not much appears to have happened to our way of life. Notre Dame manages to go on beating nearly everybody. Judy Garland is packing 'em in at the movies. A couple of conservative Texans, Rayburn and Johnson, will be in charge on Capitol Hill in January.

And, in a lot of states, Democrats wised it about that if the Republicans weren't tossed out on their ears, the bottom was going to drop out of the nation's economy.

Well, the GOP was only nudged out of congressional control by the narrowest of margins, but the last time we looked the bottom was still in the economy. As a matter of fact, according to a considerable number of signs, business was farther away from the bottom than it was a few weeks back. And the White House is still Republican.

Anyone could multiply these examples a hundredfold, of course. They make a pretty sad catalogue. The catalogue ought to be published, again and again, until the politicians start talking as if they expected their words to be remembered beyond tomorrow. The American voter is not as gullible as they think.

PX Problems

Department of Defense has been having a tough fight to keep its post exchanges and commissaries for service personnel. Most of the opposition comes from local merchants near military bases. They object to the competition and the cut prices which armed service stores can furnish, because they don't have to pay taxes, rent, or show a profit.

On the other hand, Defense Department officials maintain that these fringe benefits are necessary to keep the lower-paid uniformed personnel in service.

Businessmen then like to point out that the Eisenhower administration is dedicated to removing government competition with private enterprise, so why aren't all these government retail outlets abolished?

So bitter has this argument become that an official of the National Retail Dry Goods Association recently wrote to Air Force Secretary Harold E. Talbot, asking him what flyers wanted with refrigerators, radios or ranges, anyway?

Secretary Talbot wrote back that many Air Force officers and enlisted men were married and had families, and that they were entitled to just as good things as any other people in America.

It's Laughable

One of the most amusing events on the world scene was the "security conference" called by Moscow to urge a defense buildup of seven Iron Curtain countries against the threat of a re-armed Germany.

It is amusing because probably no one outside certain foolish neutralist circles has any doubt that Russia has for a long time been doing its utmost to stiffen the satellites with heavy armament.

Knowledge of that fact was one of the prime reasons why it was necessary for the West to create NATO in the beginning, and now to devise means to draw Germany into that framework.

In other words, we have been reacting to dangerous moves on the part of Russia and its puppets. For the Kremlin now to use our reaction as justification for "new" defense efforts in the Soviet orbit is laughable.

Safe Return

Bulgarian refugees from communism, reporting to the Free Europe Committee in New York, say they have been receiving letters from their homeland, urging them to return. One refugee recently got a letter from his wife, still in Bulgaria, saying that she had recently been visited by Red officials.

"They told me to tell you that in case of your return, they would pardon you," she wrote.

She left the decision up to her husband, and she made this extremely clear in her letter. Then she significantly added:

"Interesting things have been happening here. Ivan, Boris and Georgi have been arrested and sentenced to 18-20 years in prison. They must have committed a crime against the state."

Coexistence

Air Force Secretary Harold E. Talbot gives this definition of "peaceful coexistence."

You exist if you're too tough to tackle. You perish if you're weak and unready.

Yes, Sir! Come in, Sir! Next, Sir!

The World Today—Mac's Attack Lifts Covers

By Don Whitehead (For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's attack on President Eisenhower has peeled back the covers at last for all the nation to see what a good many people have known for a long time.

It's been a well-kept secret for months hereabouts that Eisenhower didn't have much use for McCarthy, and also that the Wisconsin Republican's esteem for the President could be loaded into an eye dropped with space to spare.

Thus McCarthy's scolding criticism of Eisenhower for an alleged "shrinking show of weakness" toward communism comes with no great shock of surprise in many quarters. In fact, an open collision before this seemingly has been dodged only by some fancy verbal footwork on both sides.

In his latest bombshell, McCarthy didn't speak out impulsively or in the heat of debate. He read from a statement prepared before he came to a committee hearing. He was well aware of the import of the words he was to speak.

The unusual thing about the statement was that McCarthy assailed Eisenhower personally, and not merely the administration. Several times in past months, McCarthy has sharply criticized the administration. But these assaults have been softened with kind words for the President himself.

Privately, McCarthy left it to be known he didn't think much of Eisenhower and his policies in dealing with the Communists.

On the other side, White House aides deliberately and frequently have advised reporters they wouldn't be wrong if they said the President didn't like either McCarthy or his methods. But the reporter was to let this be known without revealing the source of information.

This sort of veiled situation has existed for months. Eisenhower has referred to McCarthy obliquely in his press conference in critical terms but he always has refrained from "engaging in personalities" with the use of the senator's name. There existed a sort of armed truce in the area of public name calling.

Then Eisenhower gave his congratulations to Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) for a job well done as chairman of the Senate committee which recommended censure of McCarthy. In return, McCarthy blasted Eisenhower by name.

Some of McCarthy's colleagues think the senator lashes out blindly in his attacks against anyone who gets in his path. They profess to see no pattern of long-range motive in his actions.

There are others who are convinced McCarthy has a definite goal, either that he wants to be president of the United States or else he wants to become a third force in American politics with such power that he can influence the choice of a president.

McCarthy himself denies any such political ambition and places his motives on the high plateau of patriotism.

But at least this much has become apparent in the situation: A false front has been removed from the Eisenhower-McCarthy relationship by the senator himself. Now there can be no mistake about it. Everybody knows where the two men stand in relation to each other.

Fight The Wild River

by EDMUNDS CLAUSSEN

THE STORY: Capt. Irving Crotch of the steamboat General Heath had some mysterious boxes aboard when he stops at Yuma early in the 90's. He suspected they contain rifles, since troops have been withdrawn from Arizona for service in the War Between the States, and the Apaches are terrorizing settlers. Crotch's business, however, is not rifles, but taking miners up the Colorado to search for gold.

III

A TALL dusty wagon stood waiting on the street; others were rolling in with ungreased axles squealing shrilly. As Crotch's interest caught the scene he made out a gaunt cavalryman with yellow-striped legs and black felt hat bearing the familiar device of crossed sabers. The soldier's interest was centered beyond, and now the edges of his mouth lifted in a smile.

Crotch's gaze swept on, found the woman and followed her movements in the blurred shadows beyond. She took no notice of the cavalryman, continuing her walk as though he never existed. This was the woman they called Queenie.

Obviously she was not yet aware that Dreyfus awaited her in the pastry shop, as he had said. She commenced slowly to cross the road toward the mud-walled shop where she baked and sold her goods. As Crotch watched she broke her stride in midstreet. Now she turned and, lifting her skirts higher, fairly ran toward the Gila House. Crotch's gaze fastened on a figure leaning against the ramada's post support. This man was the cause for Queenie altering her direction.

The man leaning against the post was Radcliff Burke, a handsome fellow with a superb physique, with luminous eyes, a taint of violence about them, had booked passage during the late afternoon, and Crotch had then experienced the feeling he had signed on something unholy. It was probably coincidental, but Burke had taken passage immediately after the mining machinery had been stowed aboard.

Meaningful looks darted between man and woman as Burke recognized Queenie. There was no greeting, no smile to soften his handsome mouth. He wheeled, snubbing her mercilessly, and passed through the hotel's thick-walled entranceway.

Queenie stopped in her tracks. Her expression, as Crotch came abreast, was still fighting off shock. She had been hurt, deeply humiliated. Yet she smiled at Crotch, a momentary glimpse of pleasure before she gave way to her former hurt.

He tipped his cap. "You know him, Queenie? You want me to teach him manners?"

Her face was longish, with sad brown eyes. Her sensuous lips were now faintly quivering. "Radcliff Burke," she murmured, then turned.

She paused with her back to him, as though uncertain. She was scarcely beyond her teens "Is he going upriver on the General Heath?" she asked barely above a whisper.

Crotch thought about her question, saw no harm in it and told the truth. Then Queenie walked on. She brought alive active regret in Crotch a woman invariably loved the wrong man.

Its unfairness brought Crotch an annoying anger. Her own youth flashed back for him and he felt pity for Queenie. But his sympathy was infinitely more profound for Cal Dreyfus.

W. Edwards Claussen

CROTCH stalked on into the he was finally forced to admit, feeling the close heat of night walls pressing about him. This place had been built to

Optimists Learn Telephone Firms' Use of Microwaves

Jay Hinchcliffe of the engineers office of the Bell Telephone Co. in St. Louis, gave an informative talk Tuesday at the Optimist Club's noon meeting at the Bothwell Hotel in which he told of the great progress made in the telephone age.

The telephone, said Mr. Hinchcliffe, is very simple. It is when two people at different places want to talk and our job is to get them together and in order to get them together we have to get them on the same circuit.

Mr. Hinchcliffe told of the progress made by the founders of the telephone and how these things had really come to pass, the amazing things that have come in the past few years and some still to come.

Microwave, he said, is a magic word. We live in a world of waves, light waves, sound waves, heat waves. These behave like light waves and high towers are built so that the waves meet. The towers must be so that the waves go direct from one tower to another. They narrowcast the beams from this tower to that tower, focusing with a lens.

A demonstration of how this was done was given by the speaker with the aid of two towers, each with a horn and music from a record player transmitted the music from one tower to the other as long as the horns were turned toward each other. If one of the horns was turned in another direction the music could not be heard. He also demonstrated how the sound could be shut by placing his hand in front of one of the horns so the wave was cut off. This sound including tin or tinfoil, but it went right on through wood. The sound, he explained goes to the bottom of the tower by wave guide.

It has taken much time, effort and money to accomplish these fantastic things, he said, but went on to say that they will never take the place of the cable and the wire in the telephone business but that the radio wave will be used to augment it.

The speaker was introduced by William J. Mateja, program chairman.

The meeting was presided over by the president, Dr. K. L. Hol-dren, with invocation by the Rev. Robert Reinhardt. Charles Hanna led the singing, with Miss Lillian Fox at the piano.

AP Picks Football Royalty

Boasts 207 Pounds In the Line, 183½ Pounds In Backfield; Widely Diversified

NEW YORK (AP)—Widely diversified eleven led by the best balanced backfield of recent years has been chosen as the 1954 Associated Press All-America football team.

In the backfield announced today are Ralph Guglielmi, the crafty Notre Dame quarterback, Howard Cassidy of Ohio State and Dicky Moegle of Rice, halfbacks, and Alan Ameche, powerful Wisconsin fullback.

The team was chosen on the recommendations of 11 AP regional All-America boards plus individual recommendations received from more than 500 AP member newspapers and radio stations, and is based on full reports for the entire season.

On the line are Ron Beagle, Navy, and Frank McDonald, Miami (Fla.), ends; Jack Ellena, UCLA, and Rex Boggan, Mississippi, tackles; Bud Brooks, Arkansas, and Ralph Chesnauskas, Army guards; and Kurt Burris, Oklahoma, center.

The 1954 All-America averages 207 pounds in the line and 183½ in the backfield.

The bigness of the team reflects the return to strong, durable players in the second year after elimination of the two platoon system with its unlimited substitutions.

The trend of play in 1954 appeared to be away from passing and back to the running game. Despite the curtailment on substitutions, the better teams were characterized by machine-like perfection that tended to subordinate the individual.

Geographically the first team is divided as follows: one easterner (Army), one from the mid-Atlantic states (Navy), two from the South (Mississippi and Miami), two from the Southwest (Rice and Arkansas), three from the Midwest (Notre Dame, Ohio State and Wisconsin), one from the Midlands (Oklahoma) and one from the west (UCLA).

All of the first team selections are appearing at the top for the first time. Of last year's first team, only Larry Morris, Georgia Tech center, was eligible again in 1954, and Morris was handicapped by injuries.

The 1954 backfield represents the best diversification of recent years. Guglielmi, a sparkling quarterback, completed 68 out of 127 passes for 1,160 yards and six touchdowns, with but six interceptions. He carried only 79 times for 95 yards but scored five touchdowns and intercepted five passes for 51 yards.

Cassidy, the hop-along of Ohio State's powerhouse, carried 102 times for 699 yards and an average of 5.97. He scored eight touchdowns. He made the play that probably was the turning point of Ohio State's season when he intercepted a Wisconsin pass and ran 88 yards for a touchdown to break Wisconsin's back and inspire a 21-point final quarter for Ohio State. During the season he intercepted four passes for 109 yards.

Moegle of Rice—the baby faced lad who was tackled from the bench in the last Cotton Bowl game—led the Southwest Conference in scoring, ball carrying, and punt returning. He carried 144 times for 905 yards and a 6.3 average. He caught 18 passes for 198 yards, and scored 12 touchdowns in all. He returned 15 punts for 301 yards.

Ameche, known as "The Horse" because of his great power, carried 146 times for Wisconsin, making 637 yards, and scoring nine touchdowns.

Beagle was outstanding at end for Navy. He received 19 passes for 243 net yards and three touchdowns, and scored another touchdown by recovering a blocked punt in the end zone to start Navy's 25-0 rout of Stanford. During the season he received six fumbles and was great on defense.

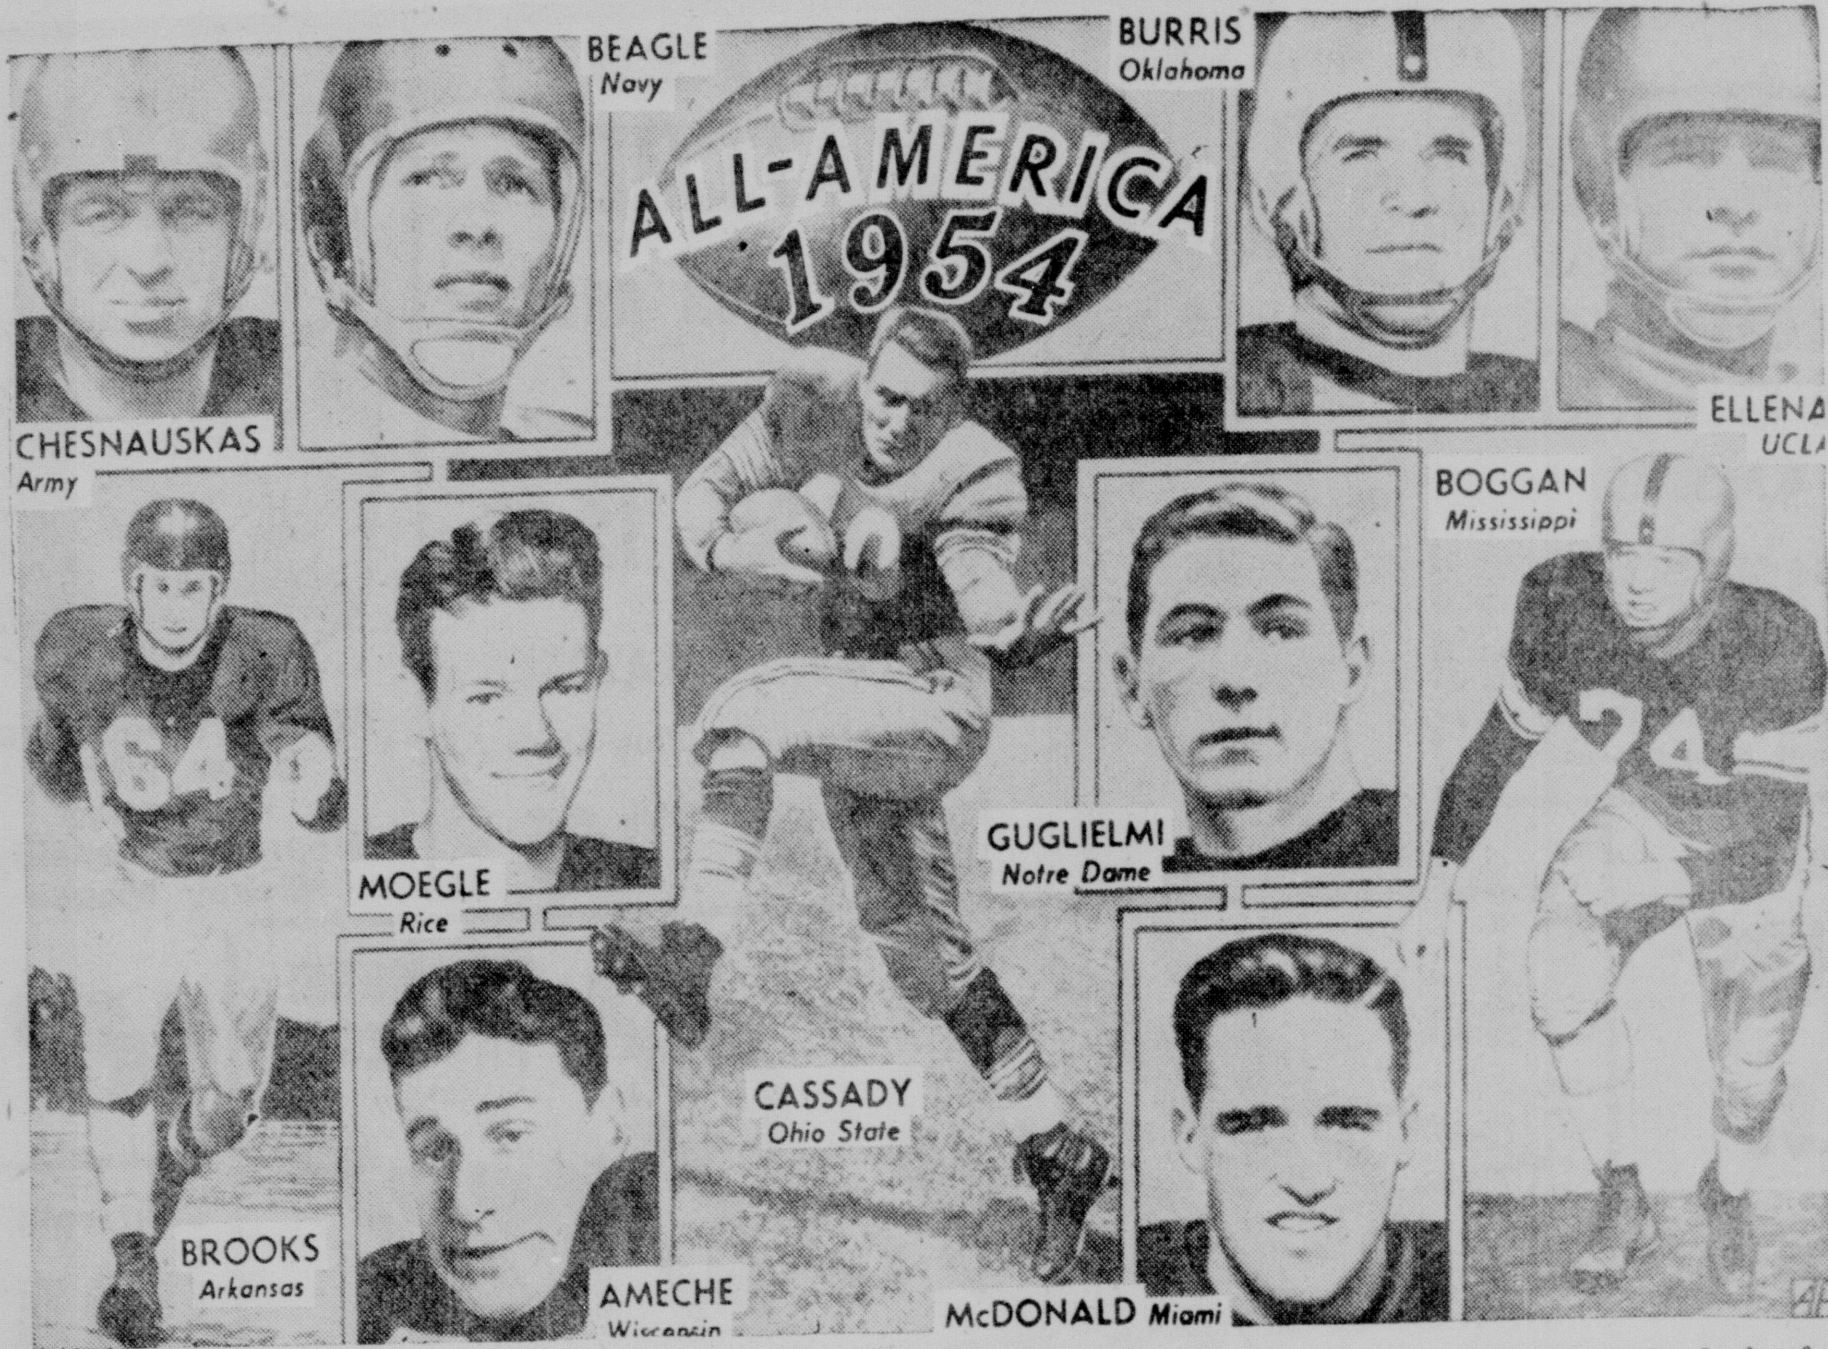

McDonald, the Miami end, caught 15 passes for 181 yards during the season and was valuable as well as blocker and defensive man on the speedy, tightly knitted young Hurricane team.

Ellena, UCLA's big tackle, is unusually agile for a big man, and is reported considering either a career in professional football or wrestling. He has been Pacific Coast Conference heavy-weight wrestling champion for two years. Boggan, the Mississippi tackle, is a big, effortless player equally good on offense or defense.

Brooks of Arkansas and Chesnauskas of Army, the first team guards, are solid and fast and both played a major role in their teams' successful seasons. Burris, the second All-America player in his family, is probably one of the finest centers the nation has seen in many years.

As is always the case, many backs clamored for attention this year. In addition to men honored on the second and third teams there were many fine ball carriers, including Buddy Leake of Oklahoma, and Robert Smith of Nebraska.

For the first time men selected on the first three teams will receive embossed certificates. The certificates will be mailed from

Major Meetings Are Ended, But Frank Lane Hangs On

NEW YORK (AP)—The annual major league meetings are ended but that trading man Frank Lane was still in town today—which means there may still be some more player deals.

In fact, the energetic Chicago White Sox general manager has a couple of near-swaps up his sleeve—ready to pull off at the drop of a name—like Finigan or Portocarrero.

Cleveland's Hank Greenberg, Cincinnati's Gabe Paul, Philadelphia's Roy Hamey and St. Louis' Dick Meyer also stayed behind after the meetings ended.

Following is a list of possible deals that have advanced past the plain "feeling out" stage and may be consummated within the next few days or few weeks.

1. The Brooklyn-Cincinnati five player swap involving outfielder Wally Post, pitcher Fred Bazewski and Hobie Landrith of the Reds and second baseman Junior Gilliam and pitcher Bob Milliken of the Dodgers is not dead although it has cooled off considerably.

2. The White Sox, rebuffed in their efforts to snag third baseman Jim Finigan and pitcher Arnie Portocarrero from Kansas City, are prepared to renew their bid with a better and bigger proposition.

3. Lane also has been closeted with General Manager Greenberg of the Indians and may soon announce a trade that would send outfielder Dale Mitchell 59 Chicago for catcher Carl Sawatski and a utility infielder.

4. The Cards and Reds, unable to come to an agreement after a four-hour session yesterday, may yet swing a deal that could be bigger than the original one that would have exchanged a St. Louis infielder for relief pitcher Frank Smith of the Reds.

The Dodger-Reds deal didn't come off as expected. E. J. (Buz) Zie) Bavasi, Dodger vice president, said he called it off.

"The more I thought of it," he said, "the less I liked it." Walter (manager Alston) wanted to make it but I feel I would be giving up too much. Sure, I would like to have Post in left field but I decid I would be better off with Gilliam, who can play left field as well as second base. The deal is off but we may be able to do something yet."

The last-minute reversal left Manager Birdie Tebbets of the Reds somewhat bitter.

If Bavasi still wants to deal, it will have to be without Post. I plan to keep him," Tebbets said.

Lane, busiest of the traders, found resistance in his bid to Kansas City for Finigan and Portocarrero. The curly-haired dynamo figured in two deals Monday that involved 13 players.

Parke Carroll, business manager of the Athletics, said he had not been offered the men he wanted.

"We can't let Finigan and Portocarrero go unless we get four players of major league ability," he said. "What Chicago has offered were guys who have only a year or two left."

SAFB Stratos Lose To Central College At Fayette 48-63

The Sedalia Air Force Base Stratos suffered their fourth straight loss Monday night as they bowed to the Central College Eagles at Fayette 48-63.

Central College was never behind after jumping to a first quarter lead in the opening minutes of play. At the halftime period the Eagles were holding a 33-24 lead over the Stratos.

The boys from the Air Base could do no better in the second half than they did in the first two quarters and came up with a 24-point scoring report while the Eagles were two-points better than their first half display getting 35 points.

Herb Hunt was the leading scorer for the Airmen with six field goals and six free throws for a total of 18 points. Stan Horst scored 13 and Bill Brooks 10.

Schultz for the Eagles sank 16 points while Sadler collected 14.

Officials Move For Better TV Choice In '55

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Officials of the Pacific Coast Conference moved today to give the nation's football television fans a better choice in 1955, and they debated a recommendation that the public be let in on some of the conference secrets.

The conference said it will urge the National Collegiate Athletic Association at its meeting in New York Jan. 7 to adopt a regional plan of football TV next fall.

The proposed TV proposition would eliminate the "Game of the Week" idea—one game per week across the nation. Instead, the country would be divided into sections—not necessarily the present eight NCAA districts—and each region could program its college gridiron attractions.

The regional plan would permit no crossing of lines during the regular season, and colleges would be permitted only one game at home and one away to be televised on Saturday afternoons.

There would be no restriction on Friday and Saturday night dates, nor any after Thanksgiving Day. The latter would permit such late season games as Army-Navy, Notre Dame-Southern California, and other attractions to be viewed coast to coast.

The proposal, exponents said, would be more elastic than a somewhat similar plan advanced for regional control by the Big Ten recently.

Smith-Cotton Cagers Lose Two To Eldon

The Eldonites grabbed a 20-10 lead in the first period, and continued to outscore the Bengals in the second and third frames, 28-18 and 19-10. Trailing 38-67 at that time, the Tigers stopped the visitors in the final quarter, outscoring them 18-9 to no avail. Despite the final-frame attempt by the Sedalia Eldon easily won 76-56.

Scoring ace Van Van Dyne led the Tigers scoring attack with 30 of Sedalia's total 56 points, for high scorer. Simmons was high for Eldon with 24, followed by Welch of Eldon with 17. Bobby Case, Sedalia, had eight.

Head of Art Academy Discloses He Once Stole a Masterpiece

LONDON (AP)—Sir Gerald Kelly, president of Britain's Royal Academy of Art, disclosed last night that he once stole one of the late King George VI's art masterpieces — and replaced it with a fake.

It was only a stunt to prove it could be done, Kelly told the audience at an art exhibition. He later returned the work, a painting by the 16th-century German artist Hans Holbein.

Kelly said the incident occurred in 1950 when the King lent his Windsor Castle collection of Holbeins for a London exhibition.

"I got into a panic in case one was stolen," Kelly said.

To find out whether such a theft would be easy, he said, he had "a large woman" smuggle in a reproduction of one of the paintings under her dress, had two children divert attention with an outcry in an adjoining room and deftly switched the paintings.

"The whole operation took 34 seconds," he said. "After that the Holbeins were locked in the cellar every night. And we never did tell anybody of our little experiment."

Advices Keeping Baby Upright If You Want To Minimize Vomiting

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Keep the baby upright, particularly after feeding him, if you want to minimize vomiting, a Cincinnati doctor who studied X-rays of more than 100 infant stomachs advised today.

Persistent vomiting, Dr. Frederic N. Silverman reported, may cause serious trouble, even death by starvation. It also may result in injury to the diaphragm.

Primitive peoples apparently know something about this, the physician said, and keep their babies erect. He cited the American Indian, who carried his pa-poose upright on his back.

Sheppard Trial Resembles Old Loomis Case

DETROIT (AP) — The dramatic murder trial of Dr. Sam Sheppard in Cleveland has stirred memories of another murder trial in Detroit, 27 years ago—and the parallels between the two are little short of amazing.

Detroit's Loomis case began on Feb. 22, 1927, when the body of 34-year-old Grace Loomis was found brutally beaten in her home in Detroit. Her husband Dr. Frank R. Loomis immediately was charged with murder. Loomis was handsome and successful. And like the 31-year-old Marilyn Sheppard, Grace Loomis was attractive and popular. Both women were killed by savage blows to the head. Neither murder weapon has been found.

Sheppard has been described at his trial as an even-tempered husband and father, devoted to his family. Loomis also was called a mild man who was devoted to his wife and two children.

Sheppard has admitted an extramarital romance with pretty Susan Hayes, 24, a former technician at his osteopathic hospital. Loomis had romantic ties with the attractive divorced daughter of a former mayor of a town near Detroit.

Police have been unable to find a T-shirt worn by Sheppard just before his wife was killed. Police found Loomis wearing a white shirt, spotlessly clean, although the rest of his clothing was spattered with blood. Later, shirt buttons were found in the furnace ashes.

Chip Sheppard, 7, slept quietly in a bedroom while his mother was killed nearby. Loomis' 8-year-old daughter and 6-year-old son were sleeping upstairs when their mother was slain.

Sheppard said his wife was killed by a bushy-haired man who ransacked the house. He said some narcotics were missing from his bag. Loomis said $100 he had given his wife was missing and suggested she had been robbed.

Detectives from Cleveland have said that someone tried to make it appear that a burglar had ransacked drawers in the Sheppard home. In the Loomis home, the window was broken in the sun parlor and police said the glass fell outside, indicating it had been broken from within.

There the similarity ends, for the Loomis trial, of course, is over, while Sheppard still awaits a verdict.

Judge John V. Brennan told the Loomis jury: "If there is a reasonable doubt in your minds, you cannot convict this man." Thirty-five minutes later the jury returned with a verdict of acquittal.

One year later Loomis was dead. He committed suicide by inhaling illuminating gas. A note he left behind said: "I am not guilty of murder. My conscience is clear."

Magistrate Insists He Be Given a Ticket For Traffic Violation

BALTIMORE (AP)—Last Saturday, Patrolman Walter Anderson blew his whistle when he saw a motorist make an illegal left-hand turn. "I'm in an awful spot," Anderson said when he looked inside the car. "I've never given a chief magistrate a ticket before."

"Do your duty officer," answered Chief Magistrate Stanley Scherr of the Traffic Court. "I insist."

Anderson did his duty and yesterday the magistrate appeared in person to pay his $5.25 fine.

Boys Request Bibles Before Asking Toys

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—Sixteen boys in the county homes here were asked by Superintendent Charles Matthews to make out Christmas lists of what they want most as gifts.

All 16 listed a Bible as their first choice, Matthews said today. Other wishes ranged from "to go home" to clothing and a wrist watch.

Not one of the boys, 9 to 16, asked for a toy.

Acceptance Was Not Predicted—

Atoms-for-Peace Plan Prospers Despite Uncertainty of Year Ago

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace proposal has taken hold despite the uncertain future seen for it when unveiled at the United Nations exactly one year ago today.

Eisenhower's proposal electrified the U.N. General Assembly then and captured the imagination of the free world. Four days ago a rare unanimous vote stamped U.N. approval on the program in somewhat modified form.

Such acceptance could hardly have been seen a year ago by the men who helped Eisenhower renege his speech to include the atoms-for-peace proposal, then furiously cranked out texts aboard the presidential plane Columbine taking the President from Bermuda to New York.

Reporters who met the Columbine at LaGuardia Field were surprised to find the speech printed on sheets of different sized paper, a giveaway that something had been added. This something was the atoms-for-peace plan, conceived as a ray of hope in what otherwise would have been a gloomy speech.

Eisenhower agreed to make the speech in response to mounting pressure to give the public more information about the horrors of atomic war. He told the U.N. the U.S. atomic stockpile had more explosive power than all the bombs and all the shells dropped and fired throughout World War II.

Then he made his appeal: (1) pool atomic materials and know-how among the nations principally involved, necessarily including Russia; (2) work out details in "private conversation" undertaken in good faith.

The immediate Russian reaction was an outburst of decision. The Soviets, however, reconsidered and came out with a more sober statement after the rest of the world applauded Eisenhower.

The Soviets said Eisenhower's idea was good but did not go far enough. They said it should prohibit atomic weapons by a pledge not to use them. The United States repeated that such a pledge was fine but any disarmament must include a system of inspection to make sure nobody cheated. The Russians said no to this.

Even so, negotiations began privately on ways and means of getting Eisenhower's program untingled. In private exchanges, American and Soviet leaders talked over details. Then, along about midsummer, the talks foundered.

In the meantime, the United States dealt Russia out and got together with several allies on a revised version of the plan. Instead of a pool which would hold materials as well as data, they discussed a clearing house through which information and nuclear goods would flow among those nations which have and those which have not.

Eisenhower's original proposal was aimed also at inspiring some sort of break in the disarmament deadlock. It was thought that by diverting attention to peaceful uses some progress might be possible on barring wartime uses.

This disarmament feature was jettisoned in the feeling it would be unwise to strip Western Allies of defensive power if Russia were untouched by any such pledge.

Congress, meanwhile, approved modernization of the 1946 Atomic Energy Act. The effect was to permit private development of atomic power plants and to allow a fuller exchange of nuclear secrets with friendlier nations.

Last September, when the U.N. got under way again, Secretary of State Dulles appeared before the delegates to press again for the President's proposal.

Then the shift from pool to clearing house was publicly revealed. The United States announced it was putting up nuclear materials for fuel in experimental atomic power plants to be built abroad.

In the end, despite bitter words, Russia went along. About that time the stalled U.S.-Russian conversations had moved into a new phase. Eisenhower, announcing this early last month, voiced the hope these talks — also secret — would "be more fruitful" than the first phase.

Appoints Two Lawyers To Represent Man Charged With Murder

LEBANON, Mo. (AP)—Circuit Judge Claude Curtis has appointed two lawyers to represent Thurman Priest, 48, who is charged with murdering his 11-year-old niece, Jeannette Earnest of Fort Worth, Tex.

Paul J. Dillard of Lebanon and Jean Paul Bradshaw of Springfield were named for the job yesterday after Priest told the judge he had no money to hire counsel. Priest has admitted slaying the girl near Lebanon Nov. 17 after taking her from Fort Worth the day before. He said he "loved her beyond the stars."

Doctors Win Demand In Three-day Strike

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Striking government-employed doctors agreed early Tuesday to end their three-day walkout for higher pay. The government in turn said it would take back some 200 of the strikers it had fired for "an unpatriotic attitude causing damage to thousands of workers."

Man Surrenders In Shooting Of Two Women

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—A well-to-do toy shop operator who police said shot his recently divorced wife and another woman to death last night while children watched gave himself up to posse members today.

Held following a five-hour man-hunt that included a house-to-house search was Fred Fowler, 54.

Killed in the Fowler home last night were Mrs. Dorothy Fowler, 32, who divorced her husband three months ago, and her friend Mrs. Emma Lou Cotner, 35.

Police said the Fowlers' children Frances, 14, William, 7, and Freda, 6, and Mrs. Cotner's 4-year-old son David were in the house. Young David, they said, witnessed the shooting. So did Frances, who called police and said: "My daddy just shot my mommy."

The children then ran across the street to a neighbor's home. Police Lt. Ray Sheffer said Fowler told him after being booked for murder, "I'm glad I shot my wife. I'm sorry I shot the other woman."

Police said Fowler had been drinking heavily since the divorce. At that time his wife was given

Mystery Is Unsolved, 2 Men Go Free After Case of Beer Barrel

BALTIMORE (AP)—And what would you do if you were driving west and met a beer barrel headed east?

Jack J. Saunders Jr., 29, and Lester Telfair, 37, told Magistrate E. Everett Lane yesterday they figured the half-barrel—full of beer—was a traffic hazard and they'd better get it out of the street. They started to load it into their car. Tha's when Patrolman Charles Owens charged them with larceny. Lane dismissed the charge. There was no evidence of larceny, he said.

How the barrel got seven blocks from Milton Glassman's tavern—and around a corner, mind you—remained a mystery.
